

10 Years Living with Fukushima

福島とともに生きて10年

27/02/2021

9.00 – 9.20 am (CET)

Introduction and technical explanations

Dr. Alex Rosen, Pediatrician, Co-chair IPPNW Germany
Lara-Marie Krausse, Press Officer IPPNW Germany

9.20 – 9.40 am

Greetings from Fukushima and from all over the world

9.40 – 10.00 am

Introduction to the nuclear catastrophe

Dr. Alex Rosen, Pediatrician, Co-chair IPPNW Germany

10.00 – 10.15 am Break

10.15 – 10.45 am

The current situation in Fukushima

Shaun Burnie, Senior nuclear specialist, Greenpeace

10.45 – 11.20 am

Low dose radiation health risks – epidemiology and evidence, Prof. Dr. Wolfgang Hoffmann, Epidemiologist, University Clinic Greifswald

11.20 – 11.40 am

Break / Project Presentation:

Nuclear Games – reaching the young generation through interactive storytelling

Andi Nidecker, PSR/IPPNW Switzerland and DOCMINE productions, Zurich, Switzerland

11.40 – 12.45 am

Cancer in Fukushima, especially cases of pediatric thyroid cancer

Dr. Alex Rosen, Pediatrician, Co-chair IPPNW Germany
Prof. Dr. Toshihide Tsuda, Epidemiologist, Okayama
University

12.45 – 1.45 pm Lunch Break

1.45–2:20 pm

Effects of the nuclear catastrophe on perinatal morbidity and mortality Dr. Hagen Scherb, Biomathematician, Helmholtz Zentrum München

2.20–3.00 pm

Psychosocial effects of the nuclear catastrophe
Dr. Angelika Claussen, Psychiatrist, IPPNW
Co-president Europe

3.00–3:15 pm Break

3.15–4.00 pm

Ecology in Fukushima: What does a decade tell us? Prof. Timothy Mousseau, Professor of Biological Sciences, University of South Carolina

4.00–4.15 pm Break

4.15–5.00 pm

Health consequences for workers in Fukushima
Felix Jawinski, Research associate at the Department of Japanese Studies at the University of Leipzig

5.00–5.30 pm Break

5.30–6.15 pm

Effects of the nuclear catastrophe on the oceans
Dr. Ken Buesseler, Senior Marine Chemist & Geochemist, Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution

6.15–6.30 pm

Parallels and differences between Fukushima and Chernobyl Juliane Dickel, Nuclear and Energy policies lead, Friends of the Earth Germany (BUND)

6.30–7.00 pm

Closing remarks, future research approaches, political demands Dr. Alex Rosen, Pediatrician, Co-chair of IPPNW Germany